The result of a conference held today between the strikers and the company, the manufacturers' association and representatives of the strikers' union headquarters, the manufacturers conceded a point to them in that the strikers from the factory of Miller & Haggood, where the strike originated will be reinstated. The six men who left the factory on Saturday morning will be paid 500 other edge cutters from other companies and they also workmen were made to attend.

The terms of settlement which are being considered for the settlement is a committee of strikers and manufacturers which will arbitrate the other points of difference.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 25.—The frequent clashes between Federal troops and State militia developed into a serious rupture to-day. The trouble is growing hourly. The police also clash with the troops.

Military sway is absolute. Further efforts were made to-day to induce Governor Pardee to withdraw the State troops. It is feared if they remain the conflict of authority will result in battle.

A SOLDIER SHOT A POLICEMAN yesterday in an altercation as to which should obey the other's order to remove a dead body. A Chinaman was shot for looting. FOURTEEN MEN WERE SHOT at different places on Friday night, and there have been frequent shootings since.

Many of these are declared to have been wanton murders. The city is ruled by the uniformed men on horseback who ride through the streets, swords clanking, directing the destruction of dangerous ruins, driving the refugees out of the streets and ordering troops, militia, po-

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—The large number of killings of innocent persons by troops have aroused a storm of indignation, directed chiefly against the military command leaders who are held responsible for the "shoot to kill" order.

Forecasters have recorded no less than seven distinct movements of the earth's crust since the memorable upheaval of last Wednesday.

The San Francisco sufferers in charge of the United States army are in need of such a hospital as your assistants in the Los Angeles relief corps have organized in the Crocker Grammar School. If you will turn the hospital and equipment over to us it will be a favor, indeed.

Everybody paid.

Not grudgingly, or meanly, but freely, willingly, cheerfully. Actors and actresses whose faces open the door of every theatre in the country tossed greenbacks into the box office and "never mind" about change.

Newspaper folk, who usually are passed, looked on passing real money.

Even Bill Backus, the overgrown ogre of green hair, Boston hope, money was

EUROPEAN TOUR ELECTION

SACRIFICES VOTES TO SUFFERERS

THIS IS THE BALLOT. CUT IT OUT.

Mail votes to the European Tour Editor, P. O. Box 5121, Boston.

Miss Ellenette Pillsbury, who has taught for forty-two years in the public schools of East Boston, yesterday gave an example of the kind of teachers who are being voted for to receive the AMERICAN'S EUROPEAN TOUR when she wrote the following:

"Please and enclosed $2.50, my salary for one day's work, to help the Hearst Fund for the relief of the San Francisco earthquake victims. I am sure that I have not done more than I should for the cause, and I am sure that the vote I would secure for a European tour would be worth the sacrifice."

Miss Pillsbury received 1,505 votes by her action, as that number of votes would be given her if the $2.50 was applied to the fund for the relief of the San Francisco earthquake victims.

The following to select the forty teachers to be awarded the trip to Europe to the old world and the $1000 in prize money, should study the list of candidates all along the line yesterday.

By the only ballot for the purpose of the Boston division, Miss Catherine Poirer of Hingham School, Cambridge, secured the fourth place with moderate gains and Miss Nellie Cornell passed Miss Pillsbury.

The Great Auto Chase.

CHAPTER XI.

Tracing the Auto.

Copyright, 1906, by American Journal Publishers.

"I suppose," said the detective, "it is extremely probable that this advertisement went to the BOSTON AMERICAN by mail."

"That the thieves have to run the risk, but I have taken precaution in that direction and something may result."

Mr. Peterson opened his mouth to ask a question, but was interrupted by the detective.

"I would like to ask if Mr. Morgan and Mr. West noticed how many people were in the automobile that passed them?"

"I saw only two," replied West.

"And I remembered to Mr. West," replied Morgan, "that although we saw only two in the machine, I am of the opinion that it was a Taylor who was forcibly seized in the car, and that those men are taking her away."

West arose suddenly with clenched fists and blaring eyes. "I only saw two," he said.

"Can you describe the car, Mr. Morgan?" inquired the detective.

"It was by far a dash and one automobile very much like the one I saw, but I do not know that it was green."

"Very much like the one I saw," replied Morgan, "but I do not know that it was green."

"That is very important, because I have some inquiries for the green auto, and I am sure that it is the same one that was taken away from the Taylor."

"I am sure that it is the same one that was taken away from the Taylor," replied Morgan, "but I do not know that it was green."

Special to the Boston American.
AMERICAN LEAGUE, PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—There was a rush of the fans to see the Hub favorites line up with Connors' Athletics. It was a battle between the former champions and the present holders of the title and the attraction was too good to be lost.

It was inevitable weather that prevailed, and kept the managers guessing whether they would make the position. It was a big improvement over yesterday, but was far from being the ideal day for the diamond warriors to do their best work.

Manager Collins could not give a definite decision before the game started. Collins said that he would not start any of his players until he saw the weather. He said it was in a way as if there would be something doing before the game started.

Connors' Athletics were equally dubious as to the playing star. He was watching to see what Collins would do, and if Young was sent in he had no doubt ready to take him. The Athletics' pitching staff is not in any better shape than the Hub's. It was in fact a little better in some ways than the Hub's.

In talking about the prospects, Collins said that he was not sure of the Athletics' pitching staff. He said that he was not sure of the Athletics' pitching staff. He said that he was not sure of the Athletics' pitching staff.

The First Peril of the Situation Has
Been Met, but the Problem Is a
Gigantic One

Famine Is Stayed,
but San Francisco's Need Is Vast.

Been Met, but the Problem Is a
Gigantic One

The food trains and ships rush-in by the Government, the Hearst newspapers and other agencies have met and conquered the perilous situation. The multitudes camped in the open air and stripped of all their belongings at least have enough to eat for the next few days.

But though the immediate wants of the houseless and impoverished population have been supplied, the problem confronting the military and civil authorities is a gigantic one. Order has to be evolved from chaos and a new organization created to take the place of that destroyed.

For some weeks the great majority of the people will have to be fed, and many for longer than that—until employment brings wages again to the vast army of workers who have been made idle and penniless.

Many millions of money will be required to carry three hundred thousand people over the interval of helplessness. Every town in California within easy reach of the burned metropolis is now packed with refugees, and the resources of these towns have been strained in providing for them. The task of doing so is too heavy for local strength. It is the duty of the whole country to shoulder the burden.

The need for giving has not passed with the first excitement and fervor of sympathy awakened by the catastrophe. That need is as real now as it was when the flames were still devouring the city and will continue to be imperative until the shattered community can bring its energies to bear for its own support.

The period of helplessness will be so brief as to astonish mankind and command its admiration. No people in the world are more self-reliant, courageous and vigorous than the Californians. They are already the first to treat with scorn the timid notion that San Francisco's shaken site should be abandoned.

They point to the fact that steel buildings were little harmed, or not at all, by the earthquake—that it was to fire the city owed its destruction. They recognize the existence of the earthquake risk, of course, precisely as the sailor recognizes the risk of shipwreck, but they are as little ready to desert the San Francisco peninsula on that account as men are to give up ocean commerce.

The men who make a city, the men of brains and enterprise, and public spirit, are thinking at this moment, while the ruins are still smoking, not about quitting, but about how to take advantage of the opportunity to make San Francisco more beautiful, more modern, and in all ways better adapted to the magnificent future which awaits her as the New York of the Pacific—a future that has not been affected by this disaster, colossal as it is.

What is at this hour but a waste of blackened desolation, within a few short weeks will be a city of tents and temporary structures resembling the town of pioneer days, feverish with the life of business. And steadily will rise the permanent buildings of steel, fireproof and as nearly earthquake-proof as anything of human make can be, that are destined to be the rule in new San Francisco.

And so tremendous will be the expenditure for materials and wages in the work of rehabilitation that San Francisco, now prostrate and dependent upon the rest of the country for food, will speedily be in the enjoyment of a boom surpassing anything it has ever known.

Her calamity, like those of Chicago, Boston, Galveston and Baltimore, will leave no lasting wounds.

But meantime San Francisco's people are without homes, without means, and must be fed and sheltered. The stream of giving that has flowed so liberally must flow on.

Give. Give freely. And give quickly.

Andrew Mack, the noted actor and singer, will afford you a chance to help the victims to-morrow. He will turn newsboy for the occasion. He will dispose of BOSTON AMERICANS at various points in the city. He will also sing.

Look out for him and buy a paper. Don't be afraid to pay a good price for the paper. Every cent of it will go to the California sufferers. Here is the singer-newshov's program:

Leaves Boston Theatre at 11:40 A. M., at Stock Exchange at 11:55 A. M., at Scollay square at 12:15 P. M., at Park Street Church at 12:30 P. M. On Common, opposite Touraine, at 12:45 P. M. At South Station entrance at 5:10 P. M.

If by any chance you fail to buy a paper from Mr. Mack to-morrow, or even if you do, don't forget the newsboys on Friday. All of the members of the Newsboys' Union have agreed to contribute 10 per cent. of their earnings on Friday to the earthquake homeless thousands.

What do you think of these boys' exhibition of charity? Pretty good, isn't it? Well, men and women, see that you show them that you appreciate their sacrifices in the sweet name of charity. Buy papers and never mind about any change.

The lovers of sports will have their chance on Saturday night at the Hub Theatre. There will be a great benefit given in this theatre and all of the receipts will be sent to San Francisco.

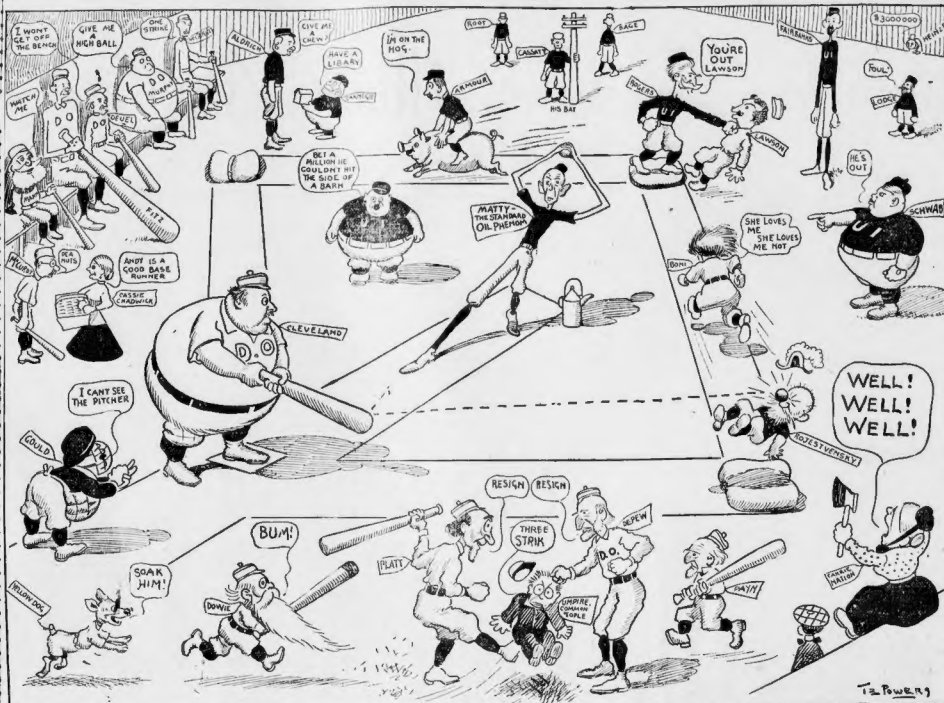

The program will be one of the best ever devised in the city. Boxing, wrestling, vaudeville, all that is interesting and good of that character as no written description could possibly effect. They are true to life because photographic, and they are the first accurate pictures yet shown to the people of Boston.

Buy tickets now. Go or send substitutes. It will help the helpless of the Pacific slope.

The AMERICAN was first in accomplishing this, but, after all, that is nothing novel. The AMERICAN and the other Hearst newspapers are accustomed to get the news first and most completely.

The AMERICAN'S readers may rely upon having the news at what ever cost. No expense will be spared to give them the earliest and fullest reports of current events, wherever they may happen.

WE women teach our little ones
 how wrong
 And how ignoble blaws are;
 school and church
 Support our precepts, and inoculate
 The growing mind with thoughts of love and peace
 "Let gods delight to bark and bite,"
 we say;
 But human beings, with immortal
 souls,
 Must rise above the methods of a brute,
 And war with reason and with self-control.
 And then—dear God! you men, you
 wise, strong men,
 Our self-announced superiors in brain,
 Our peers in judgment, you go forth
 to war!
 You leap at one another, mutilate
 And starve and kill your fellow-men,
 The world's despots, authors of such heroic deeds,

You hear and strut; and if no song is
 And the sunbeams sleep, and the birds no more,
 No lustrous epic write in blood,
 Telling how many widows you have Made.

Why then, perforce, you may say our words are dead
 And fiction sleeps, and the sunbeams no more.

And we, the women, we, whose lives here
 What can we do but sit in silent homes,
 And wait and suffer? Not for us the glare
 Of trumpets and the bustle of arms—
 For us no waving banners, no supreme
 Triumphs, though our husbands march to the glory,
 Dread torture of uncertainty, each day
 The boisterous battle of the world is made
 And when at last your victories reach our ears,
 These reaches, with them, to our pining hearts,
 The thought of countless others, who, like us,
 And other women weeping for their dead.

O men, wise men, superior beings, say,
 Where no substance, no real life is there,
 Great age and era! If you answer "No,"
 Then let us rear our children to be wolves,
 And teach them how to kill and mangle birds,
 Why should we women waste our time and words
 In teaching them to be good and gentle?

By Frederick E. Breithut

SAN FRANCISCO gives its lesson—not that we human beings are small, petty, powerless; not that consciousness of ignorance is going to cause us to wail in helpless impotence and rage. Not these.

But —
That man is great; that he must be independent, strong and aggressive; that it is only by his own fighting he can conquer.
We are greater than volcanoes and earthquakes, and we will conquer them yet. It may take a hundred years; it may take a thousand. But we will conquer or we will be blown to bits fighting, not lamenting that we are weak and the force of Nature strong.

If we cannot do these outbreaks, at least we will be able to predict and avoid them. Science will do this, for it has done more. We have fought greater enemies and beaten them.

Science has helped to save a myriad victims. Millions have fallen a prey to the ravages of scourging fevers. Innumerable infants have been sacrificed on the altar of bigotry. These destroyers have lost their terrors for us. Science has laid them low.

Science has given us a new cry—but one cry—"Close in the ranks and march on! Do not sit aside crying for help! We must help ourselves!"

The catastrophe at San Francisco should call forth strength, virility, hope and faith in man's powerfulness and future development. Here is a battle worthier than of gods.

This is Science's war on two tyrants.
